

MATERIAL TRANSFER AGREEMENT FOR PERENNIAL CROP GERMPLASM DEVELOPED BY THE LAND INSTITUTE

This SEED or PLANT MATERIAL (hereinafter known as MATERIAL) is being distributed by The Land Institute to Aarhus University (herein "RECIPIENT") in accordance with principles embodied in the "Wheat Workers' Code of Ethics For Distribution of Germplasm", as amended by the National Wheat Improvement Committee on November 5, 1994:

Acceptance of this MATERIAL by RECIPIENT constitutes agreement to the following:

- 1. The Land Institute retains all rights and ownership to the Material.*
- 2. RECIPIENT shall make no secondary distributions of the Material (including sale of the material or grain harvested from the material) without the expressed written permission from the Chief Scientist of The Land Institute.*
- 3. The Land Institute in distributing unreleased MATERIAL to RECIPIENT grants permission for use of the MATERIAL in tests under the RECIPIENT'S control and/or as a parent for making crosses from which selections will be made. RECIPIENT must obtain expressed written approval from the Chief Scientist at The Land Institute to use the MATERIAL for*
 - (a) testing in regional or international nurseries;*
 - (b) increase and release as a cultivar;*
 - (c) reselection from within the stock, if a self-pollinating species;*
 - (d) use as a parent of a commercial F1 hybrid or multi-line cultivar;*
 - (e) use as a recurrent parent in backcrossing;*
 - (f) mutation breeding;*
 - (g) selection of plants regenerated from tissue culture; or*
 - (h) use as a recipient parent for asexual gene transfer.*
- 4. If any new cultivars are developed using the material provided, RECIPIENT is obligated to name The Land Institute as the source of the material. Similarly, any publication of research that involves the material will at minimum name The Land Institute as the source of material and in some cases share authorship.*
- 5. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as a waiver of any immunities, defenses, rights, or privileges that may be available to either party under applicable law, including sovereign immunity. Each party retains all such immunities and defenses.*

The Land Institute is not responsible for disposal of material*

The Land Institute, RECIPIENT and RECIPIENT SCIENTISTS must sign two copies of this letter.
Please return one signed copy to The Land Institute.
